EXTRA-CURRICULA ACTIVITIES

On 20 April, APIC Melbourne cricket team had their first match at Fawkner Park. This is the first of many forthcoming initiatives in the interest of students' extra-curricular activities, aimed at enhancing student experience at APIC.

India: a naturally-transformative education

India is the land of culture, spirit and knowledge. Will Durant, an eminent historian and philosopher, wrote that India was the motherland of our race, Sanskrit the mother of Europe's languages, the mother of our philosophy and mathematics, the mother of the ideas embodied in Christianity, of self-government and democracy; and that basic Indian insights will find their way into our Western culture, and, because of their metaphysical and psychological profundity, our way of thinking in the West will be influenced by Indian thought.

(JT Sutherland, India in Bondage, Simon and Schuster, New York, 1930)

Given that a majority of our students are of Indian origin, how, in what we give them here at APIC, may we leverage on this rich Indian educational and cultural background?

"Education is a human right with immense power to transform."
